

A detailed black and white illustration of a tire tread, showing various patterns and textures. The tread features a complex design with multiple longitudinal grooves, sipes, and a central channel. The texture is highly detailed, with many small, irregular shapes and lines, suggesting a rough or aggressive tread pattern. The overall shape is a cross-section of a tire, showing the internal structure and the outer tread surface.